NCAA Meet Off To Fast Start

A perfect day weather-wise, 5,000 screaming fans and one of the finest collections of track and field athletes combined Friday to give the NCAA championship meet a rousing first day.

The one record broken in the preliminaries loomed as a forerunner of the several records expected to take a beating during the finals Saturday when the twilight meet gets underway at 4:30 p.m.

House Passes Wheat Action

Measure Aims At Slash In Production; Hikes Support Levels

Washington (U)—The House Friday passed a wheat bill aimed at cutting production in 1960 and 1961, but sharply increasing price support levels.

The measure, approved by a vote of 188-177, now goes to conference for adjustment of differences with a Senate bill passed May 22. Both versions are opposed by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Twice in recent weeks, President Eisenhower has asked Congress to do something about what he said was an impending disaster in wheat.

Current record supplies, plus a government investment of about 3½ billion dollars in wheat acquired under price support operations has made wheat the No. 1 farm problem.

Present law provides price supports of 75% of parity, based on a national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres. This program, in effect for the 1959 crop, will also prevail in the future unless a new law is written.

Support Hike

The House bill would require wheat farmers to take a 25% reduction in acreage. But it would raise the support level to 90% of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices designed to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they have to pay.

The Senate bill would leave the national acreage at 55 million acres, but drop support to 65% of parity for complying farmers. Those who took a voluntary 10% cut in acreage, however, would receive price supports at 75% of parity and those cutting acreage by 20% would receive 80% supports.

Better

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) hailed the House bill as better than the Senate bill. Named one of the Senate conferees, Humphrey told the Senate he hoped the House version of the legislation would be adopted.

VOTES SPLIT

Nebraska Congressmen split their votes, 2-1, when the house passed a bill increasing price supports for wheat and reducing acreage.

Rep. Lawrence Brock, a Democrat, and Rep. Phil Weaver, a Republican, voted for the bill. Rep. Glenn Cunningham, a Republican, voted against the measure.

Not Healed

For the first time a Christian Democratic leader acknowledged that the party rift was not altogether healed. Ernst Lemmer, minister for all-German affairs, issued a statement observing that "the differences have now been resolved in their most important details."

Somebody's trying to ram us."

Officers and men raced to the rails, and sure enough, the little boat was roaring full speed toward a cruiser.

"Torpedoes away," one of the motorboat crew yelled, and the boat swung away from the cruiser just before a collision.

Again and again the hardy motorboat team made "torpedo runs," until police finally came and ordered the attack concluded.

But an hour later a police helicopter spotted the motorboat running in wild circles. A closer look disclosed that one man was lying face down on the bottom of the boat and the other was slumped over the motor.

"There's a boat running wild in the river with what looks like two dead men in it," the helicopter reported to a police launch.

After a check, however, the police launch reported, "they're not dead, just dead drunk."

Liquor Bd. Bottle Club Power To Be Asked

State Liquor Commission Chairman Nathan Pont said Friday the attorney general will be asked to define the commission's authority over bottle clubs.

Pont made the statement following a meeting arranged by Sen. Terry Carpenter, Scottsbluff, and attended by representatives of several organizations which operate bottle clubs, the liquor commission and members of the attorney general's staff.

Carpenter explained that he arranged the meeting so that operators of such clubs would have knowledge of what they could do legally.

The meeting was called after LB23, the bottle club license bill, was vetoed by Governor Brooks. The Legislature failed to override the veto.

Committee

Carpenter suggested that interested organizations name a committee to meet with the commission to determine if rules and regulations could be adopted by the commission concerning the operations of such clubs.

Commissioner Ray Osborn said the committee idea was a good one but warned that the problem could not be settled in a day. Such a committee, he said, could set down with the commission to attempt to work out mutual problems.

Sen. Jack Romans, Ord, said that one of the things that needs to be determined is "how private is a private club." He asked if the commission could go into them.

Legislation should not be passed to take away that privacy, he said.

Pont said there are several legal points which must be clarified by the attorney general. The subject of bottle clubs is a new field, he said, and the commission first will have to determine where it legally stands on the subject.

NEVER FEAR, WARM CLEAR STAYING HERE

Nebraska temperatures climbed generally into the low 90s Friday, and the prospects for Saturday are about the same.

Chadron charted the state's high reading of 94. Omaha and Norfolk were the only reporting stations which didn't reach the 90 mark. Their high was 86.

Thundershowers were reported in the Panhandle Friday night, with Scottsbluff receiving 1.94 inches of rain and hail between 8 and 9 p.m.

Saturday forecasts call for fair weather over most of the state. High readings ranging up to 95 are expected.

Release Asked By Governor

... Judge Signs Habeas Corpus Writ

Galveston, Tex. (U)—Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long, "a governor in exile by force and kidnapping" by his own description, filed for a habeas corpus hearing Friday, contending he was flown to a psychiatric clinic here against his will.

District Judge L. D. Godard signed the writ and set the hearing for Monday at 10 a.m., one day before Long was to undergo a sanity hearing.

Court-appointed attorneys for the volatile, 63-year old Louisiana governor claimed their client had been forcibly removed from his mansion "his feet, ankles and arms tied to a stretcher" under powerful sedation.

Restraint Claimed

The petition Friday also charged that Long, flown here from Baton Rouge, La., on May 30, was "illegally confined and restrained in his liberty at the John Sealy Hospital."

Attorneys Adrian S. Levy Sr., former Galveston mayor; Jean Hoseney; and Fine S. Bedford filed the petition, signed in Long's own handwriting: "Earl K. Long, governor in exile by force and kidnapping."

The trip from Baton Rouge in a Louisiana Air National Guard plane came just 3 days after Long exploded during a legislative hearing and laced his opponents in a profanity-strewn outburst.

Mrs. Long signed commitment papers for her husband, contending he was "mentally and physically exhausted."

Sanity Hearing Set

Probate Judge Hugh Gibson ordered Tuesday's sanity hearing after doctors agreed with Mrs. Long and said Long should be confined to the hospital "for his own protection and that of others."

The order signed by Judge Godard, presiding justice in the 122nd District of Texas, ordered Dr. Daniel Bobbitt, director of hospitals at the John Sealy Medical Center, to bring Long to the hearing.

Should Godard rule Monday that Long is being held against his will and illegally confined, Long probably would be free to do as he wishes. The sanity hearing would go through as scheduled Tuesday should Godard deny the habeas Corpus application.

Warden To Be 'One Of The Best'

The new State Penitentiary warden will almost certainly be one of the men recommended to the Board of Control by the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Three have thus far been interviewed in Lincoln, The Star learned Friday.

Two are presently wardens at other prisons; one has recently retired as a prison head.

Higher Pay

The man to be chosen will be paid a salary exceeding that paid to Joseph Bovey of Lincoln, who resigned as warden last month.

Bovey was salaried at $6,600 annually, in addition to housing, food, fuel and light.

Announcement of the Board of Control's choice is expected this month.

"We'll get one of the best," member Charles Leeman said. Chairman Catherine Martin added, "He'll be a top man."

No persons other than the 3 out-of-staters have been interviewed for the post.

Bovey resigned May 15 after pressure was brought on members of the Board by Gov. Ralph Brooks to fire him.

Dip In Cattle Prices Soon Seen By Official

By Bill Anderson

Overexpansion is going to bring a dip in cattle prices in the next year or two, the chief of the livestock Statistical Branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture predicted in Lincoln Friday.

"Cattle producers should avoid high cost or risk, or speculative additions to their herds," Harold F. Breimyer of Washington, D.C. advised some 340 Nebraska stock growers on the 3rd day of their annual 4-day convention in Lincoln.

"Any expansion that can prove profitable only if prices do not decline should be questioned," he said.

"Being alert to this outlook and adjusting to it will not only enable individual cattle producers to improve their own chances of success, but will strengthen the economic position of the industry," he explained.

"Conservative stocking when cattle prices are approaching a cyclical decline benefits the individual practicing it, and it helps the industry as a whole," he said.

Rep. Donald F. McGinley (D-4th) of Nebraska said current developments in grains "do not bode well for the cattle industry."

Speaking at a morning session, McGinley said there can be "no security for stock growers without a strong program of crop controls."

Controls To End

"I believe we're going to see this year the effect of taking production controls away from corn," he predicted.

You're Real Aristocracy —Brooks

In his first speaking engagement since being released from the hospital, Gov. Ralph Brooks told approximately 300 members of the Nebraska Stock Growers Assn. Friday that they were "the real aristocracy of Nebraska."

Speaking at the association's annual banquet, Brooks said that he was the first member of the association to have the association's convention held in his home town two years in a row.

corn allotments designed to establish control over production. The new program allows farmers to grow all the corn they want and still be guaranteed a government price support of more than $1 a bushel.

(Congress, as well as economists, is watching the corn situation closely. Prospects for heavy corn production and the support rate may lead to a huge increase in corn surplus at a tremendous additional cost to the farm program, economists predict.)

"Constant lowering of grain prices stimulates beef production," McGinley said, referring to the economic principle that contends cheap feed will lead to over-production and inevitably, a decline in the cattle price.

Hope For Wheat Bill

McGinley said he is hopeful that the current Congressional wheat bill will succeed. The bill would place wheat price supports back up to 90% of parity for farmers who agree to cut their wheat acreage by some 20%.

Emphasis Shifts To Missile Defense

McELROY UNVEILS NEW PLAN

Less Money For Nike-Hercules

Washington (AP)—U.S. military planners have decided to shift emphasis in continental defense from anti-aircraft to anti-missile weapons, the Senate Armed Services Committee was told Friday.

The new master defense plan, as explained to the committee by Pentagon officials, proposes stepped-up spending on the Army's Nike-Zeus project. The Nike-Zeus, still years away from perfection, is intended to intercept oncoming intercontinental ballistic missiles.

While boosting the anti-missile program, the new plan means less money for the Army's Nike-Hercules and the Air Force's Bomarc.

Local Nikes Affected?

The new defense plan raised immediate questions in Nebraska as to the fate of Omaha and Lincoln Nike missile installations which are still in the preliminary stages.

Army officials in Washington had said earlier that if the Senate Armed Services Committee recommendation to repeal authorization for 50 Nike batteries was upheld by Congress, Omaha and Lincoln bases would be affected.

missiles capable of downing bombers, but too slow to cope with 18,000-mile-an-hour ballistic missiles.

More For Nike-Zeus
Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), endorsing the changed emphasis, said the Defense Department wants to spend an added 157 million dollars on the missile-killing Nike-Zeus. Russell did not say just when, but presumably this money would be allocated soon.

As for the Hercules and the Bomarc, Russell said they would take a reduction of about 152 million dollars over the next year, with an eventual cutback totaling about 1 1/2 billion dollars. He did not say over what length of time the over-all cut would be spaced.

The Army and Air Force have been squabbling over the relative merits of the Hercules and the Bomarc. Both weapons were retained—but both took a cut—in the revised defense plan, which came after prodding from Congress and President Eisenhower.

Although one aim of the plan was to quell the inter-service missile rivalry, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy indicated skepticism that it would work that way. "I do not think that Utopia will ever come," McElroy told newsmen during a mid-day break in the secret session with the committee.

Brooks Signs Bill Establishing Levy For Ag Research

Gov. Ralph Brooks has signed LB 722, establishing a special property tax levy for research into new uses of agricultural products.

The measure would levy .10 mill over a period of 5 years. It was introduced by the Agriculture Committee, headed by Sens. Han Jensen of Aurora.

Mead Will Become Atlas Site July 26

Washington (AP)—The Air Force plans to take over part of the Nebraska Ordnance Plant near Mead for future use as a missile launching site about July 26.

Sens. Carl T. Curtis and Roman Hruska, Nebraska Republicans, were advised of this schedule Friday by Maj. Gen. W. P. Fisher, Director of Air Force Legislative Liaison.

"We have proposed that the Strategic Air Command assume responsibility for the facilities," Fisher said.

The Air Force has been granted a use permit for about 2200 acres of the Ordnance Plant land by the Army. It was announced last fall that part of the Mead site would be used as a launching site for an Atlas ICBM base at Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha.

Fisher said the actual launching area at Mead is planned to be spotted on about 1100 acres. The rest of the land will be used for a transmitter facility and administrative area.

Brothers Get Bachelor Of Divinity Degrees

Two brothers, Haldor and Roger Heimer of Lincoln, have received advanced degrees from The College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky.

Sons of Mrs. Roy H. Heimer, of 1529 C, the brothers were awarded the Bachelor of Divinity degree at the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) Seminary at Lexington.

Roger, the younger brother, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and has served the Christian Churches at Louisville and Plattsmouth, Neb.

Haldor, who holds a B.A. degree from Manhattan Bible College, Manhattan, Kan. and a Master's Degree from Butler University School of Religion, is at present on furlough from his duties as a missionary with the United Christian Missionary Society, in the Belgian Congo and will leave late this summer for a year of study in Belgium before returning to the Congo.

Sorry, Going West, Escapade Explains

Red Cloud, Neb.—A young man who broke out of the Webster County Jail during the night leaving an apologetic note for Sheriff Tom Kelley was still at large Friday.

The sheriff's office identified the youth as Richard Allan Fattas 23 of Detroit who had been jailed in connection with a break-in at a gun shop 2 weeks ago. He had been working at a filling station here.

Mrs. Tom Kelley wife of the sheriff said the youth also was wanted at West Plains Mo. and in Detroit.

He dug his way out of the brick-walled cell where he had been placed because the plumbing was faulty in the jail's steel cells.

In his note the youth apologized for breaking out saying the sheriff had been nice to him. The note said he planned to head west, change his name and get married.

Florida Youth Tells Court Negro Coed Gave Consent

... State Rests Case In Tallahassee

Tallahassee, Fla. (AP)—An 18-year-old white high school student told a Circuit Court jury Friday night a Negro coed consented to having sexual relations with him and that she told him afterwards "she wanted to be let out at the college so she could change her dress."

David Ervin Beagles was the first of 4 white youths to take the stand to defend himself against rape charges, a capital offense in Florida. A stocky youth with blond crew-cut hair, he nervously pushed a ring back and forth on a finger and talked in short jerks that were difficult to follow.

The defense took over after State Attorney William D. Hopkins rested the state's case and Circuit Judge W. May Walker denied defense motions for a mistrial.

Had Been Drinking

Beagles said he had been drinking the night of May 2 when the girl allegedly was raped, and didn't remember clearly the events of that period.

When his attorney, Howard Williams, first asked if he had relations with the girl, Beagles replied, "As well as I can remember."

Later, on cross-examination, he said flatly that he did have relations.

Beagles' parents and a younger sister sat in second row seats in the downstairs sections of a crowded segregated courtroom and his mother buried her head in her hands while he was testifying.

Other defendants in the case are Patrick J. Scarborough, 20, Willson Collinsworth, 23, and Ollie Stoutmire, 16.

Knife And Shotgun

Beagles said that he had a knife and Collinsworth had a shotgun that evening. He said the 4 youths were out looking for Negroes who had been annoying the Collinsworths by conducting all-night necking parties near Collinsworth's home.

It was while they were cruising around in the vicinity of a Negro drive-in theater that they came upon a car containing two Negro couples.

The witness said he emerged from their car with an open knife in his hand, but that he put it up when he found the occupants were college students in formal dress.

After telling the two Negro boys to drive off, he said the two girls were asked to get in the white youths' car and that one of them did so voluntarily, but the other darted away.

It was about 4 hours later, according to the state, that Beagles and 3 companions raped the Negro girl repeatedly after abducting her from a car where she was sitting with her Negro escort.

E. A. Becker Retires From Bank Post

Edward A. Becker, senior vice-president of Continental National Bank, has announced his retirement on July 1. He will, however, retain his position on the board of directors.

Becker, 68, has been associated with Continental National Bank for 44 years. He started in 1915 as a bookkeeper for the German-American State Bank, forerunner of Continental National.

He was promoted to teller in 1918, one year after the bank changed its name to Continental State Bank. He rose to become first assistant cashier and then cashier.

When the bank was nationalized in 1929, and received its present name, Becker was promoted to vice president and placed on the board of directors. He has held the position of senior vice president since 1937.

Becker, who has seen the Continental National Bank grow from a 4-man organization to a multi-million dollar operation employing over 100 persons, cites "mechanical developments" as the greatest change in the banking profession. "What used to be done by hand is now taken care of by machines," he said.

AIR COOLING PRICE TAG TOO HIGH

The Legislature decided Friday that $5,160 was too much money to spend to temporarily air-condition the legislative chamber for the weeks remaining in the 1959 session.

They rejected the offer which included rental of 4 (7 1/2 ton) units and installation of wiring and plumbing to handle the air-conditioners which would have to be turned back to the company, but would be available for state purchase at a reduced price at the end of the session.

Sen. Terry Carpenter, who had made the original move to get the stifling hot chamber air-conditioned by Monday, said it would be "completely ridiculous" to spend more than $5,000 to cool the chamber for such a short time.

Bank Accounts In Lincoln Show 10% Hike From '58

Demand deposits in Lincoln banks totaled 10% more for May than for the same month a year ago according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City.

The increase for the entire Tenth District—a 7-state area was 12% over May, 1958.

For the first 5 months of 1959, Lincoln demand deposits were also up 10% over the same 1958 period, compared with an 11% increase for the entire district.

Sewer Progress Made For Salt Creek-Beal's Slough

By Virgil Fallon

City Engineer Carl Fisher said Friday that "some progress" has been made in right-of-way negotiations for construction of the 2.9-mile Salt Creek-Beal's Slough sanitary interceptor sewer.

Award of a $649,833.20 construction contract using asphalt-coated steel pipe has been held up since May 13 by right-of-way difficulties and potential legal problems.

Fisher said the Burlington Railroad has withdrawn earlier objections to the asphalt-coated steel pipe generally but the pipe gauge is still under discussion.

Extension Possible

The Burlington has approved the pipe's gauge where it crosses under the tracks but still has under study the proposed thickness elsewhere in its right-of-way.

Meanwhile another source said the Union Pacific Railroad has tentatively given approval to the proposed sewer construction where its right-of-way is involved.

Fisher said the city is "very much interested in preserving" the low bid which is $150,000 under the engineering estimate.

The $150,000 "saving" would make possible construction of the critically-needed Dead Man's Run sewer extension from 51st and Lexington to 63rd and Vine to relieve a sewer overload situation in that eastern section before sewer bond funds are exhausted.

Recently the sewer overload necessitated the pumping of sewage directly into the creek during a critical period in May.

Construction of the Salt Creek sewer from 4th and N to 14th and Pioneers near the State Penitentiary will eliminate the dumping of raw sewage into that creek.

Both situations have been criticized by health authorities.

Lincoln Methodist Pastor Changes Disclosed

Five Lincoln Methodist churches will have new pastors as a result of assignments announced by Bishop H. Bascom Watts at the Nebraska Methodist Conference in Grand Island. In addition a new pastor was assigned for the Wesley Foundation at the University of Nebraska.

The new assignments:

Christ Methodist — The Rev. Nye O. Bond from Cozad replaces Dr. Lloyd E. Watt, who goes to First Methodist Church at North Platte.

Havelock Methodist — The Rev. John E. Knight, now pastor of Immanuel Congregational Church at Dubuque, Ia., will replace the Rev. F. C. Friederich, a retired minister who has been acting as supply pastor.

St. Mark's Methodist — The Rev. Warren Swartz, associate pastor of Centenary Methodist Church in Beatrice, replaces the Rev. S. A. Kruschwitz, who is assigned to Auburn.

Lakeview Methodist — The Rev. James McBride, who served while here in the Air Force as assistant pastor at St. James Methodist, becomes supply pastor.

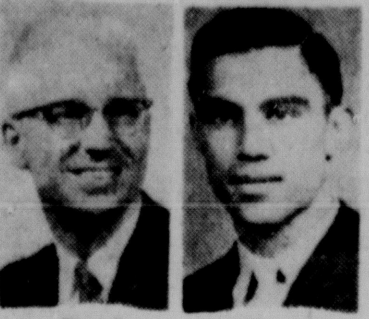

Asbury Methodist — The Rev. Jack I. Williams, a student at Wesleyan, will be supply pastor. The Rev. L. Wayne Blackledge is being released from Asbury duties to devote full time to his pastorate of Lincoln Heights Methodist.

Wesley Foundation — Dr. William Gould, pastor of the College Church and Wesley Foundation at Middletown, N.J., becomes pastor and the Rev. J. Benton White, chaplain at Lincoln Air Force Base, will be assistant pastor, replacing the Rev. Darrell Patton, who goes to Kansas, and the Rev. Robert Gordon, who goes to West Virginia.

Dr. Lloyd Watt, who goes to North Platte, was assigned here in 1951 shortly before Elm Park and Emmanuel Methodist Church were merged into Christ Methodist. Dr. Watt has been chairman of the conference board of education, chairman of the Wesley Foundation building planning committee and a member of the executive committee of the pension fund for Methodist ministers and widows.

Besides local church work, Dr. Watt has served as chairman of the Lincoln Goodwill Industries Board, has been president of the Methodist Ministers' Assn., president of the Lincoln Interdenominational Ministers' Assn., member of YMCA board, Kiwanis

Philosophy With Limits

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Ranchers attending the 70th annual convention of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association were told by a South Dakota banker to "be a salesman for the free enterprise system, which got you where you are and gave you all you have." There is a lot of truth to what Banker Carl E. Bahmeier Jr. told his audience but the tone of his remarks makes it doubtful if he would temper his philosophy as might be needed.

America does have and is proud of its free enterprise system but there may be some difference as to just what each individual might say this system is. Not only what it was originally intended to be by the framers of our constitution but what it actually is today. There is a difference between being free and being destroyed. Hardly a segment of our nation's economy today is free in the sense that Mr. Bahmeier spoke of it. His rancher audience comes as close to it as any group would and certainly a lot closer than the banker himself would.

The banking business has some stake in government affairs, too. It is regulated in a great many ways by laws on lending and operations. Its business is materially affected by the fiscal policies of the government and particularly by the actions of the Federal Reserve Board.

It has been the administration of President Eisenhower which has so operated as to bring about a higher and higher interest rate, a situation generally considered as favorable for the banking and investment business. The ranchers, of course, have always been a highly independent group of people and they have every right to take pride in this.

But they should, at the same time, realize that not every business is the same as theirs. The cattle business has never faced a market equal to that which has been faced year after year in recent times by the corn and wheat farmer. The price of beef fluctuates and sometimes dips pretty low because of an over-supply on the market. But beef raising still has never gotten so far out of hand as crop raising.

Farmers again this year face a supply of corn and wheat far beyond anything the regular market will be able to consume. Without new action by Congress, this excess supply will find its way into already bulging government storage bins, placed there under payment of a support price which will probably assure the farmer of some profit.

This is the kind of thing to which Mr. Bahmeier would object. He would not do so without justification, either, but that is not the whole point of the thing. The farm program now being used by the administration would draw little applause from anyone. Congress has done nothing yet to improve the situation and is not expected to get anything done.

But farmers under the administration program will soon find themselves suffering. They would find the same thing under no farm program at all. It is a lofty thing to talk about free enterprise but that should not be interpreted as meaning the abandonment of our responsibilities.

Any government might stand on free enterprise and refuse to do a thing for its people.

We wonder how the ranchers would be doing without the fine highways they have to get their cattle to market.

If the government were to stand completely on free enterprise, it would tell the ranchers to build their own highways. Where would a large part of the population be if it were not for social security? That, too, would be done away with, with many people's idea of free enterprise but it would be a sorry day for this country. Fast tax write-offs and government loans to businesses are not free enterprise either but they have been concluded to be an area worthy of special consideration.

It all boils down to the fact that America is not a country in which one group of people should want to prosper at the expense of another group or even independent of other groups. Free enterprise constitutes the natural workings of a free economy guided in such a fashion as to bring the highest standard of living to the greatest number of people.

ures and omissions of the lobby-dominated Missouri legislature, it must be admitted that the work of the Assembly was hampered considerably by the system within which the lawmakers had to operate. The two-house legislature was made to order for selfish manipulation by the paid representatives of special interests.

"What Missouri needs, if it ever is to enjoy the most effective assembly, is a small one-house legislature patterned after the unicameral system Nebraska has had for some 20 years.

"Because of its very nature, a one-house legislature would have no need of the all powerful conference committee with its last minute deals aimed at compromising senate-house differences over particular legislation . . .

"A unicameral legislature ought to attract superior candidates . . . but even if the caliber of the individual lawmaker were not materially improved, surely his performance ought to be better because of the inherent virtues of the machinery with which he is working."

House of Commons member Brown got a thunderous

"How Much More Do We Put Into It?"

DREW PEARSON

Red Strength Grows, NATO Defense Lags

London — George Brown, labor member of Parliament, raven-haired, ruddy-cheeked, cultured of speech, was addressing the Atlantic Congress.

"I am worried about our military strength," he told the delegates from 14 NATO countries. "Our military commanders have one thought, our political leaders another. We could not today operate a joint command in the maritime field. We have not today coordinated our air defense. We have not followed a common policy of standardizing our weapons."

"We have armament factories in our own country which want orders. We know, as members of Parliament, that constituents come to us and say we'll be out of employment if those factories don't get orders. So since some arms would have to be manufactured outside our country, we have not standardized armament."

"We have withdrawn some of our British units from the NATO shield. Other governments have failed to put in all the forces they promised," Brown continued, referring to the French diversion of troops to Algeria.

"We face very grave problems. Our governments are not facing those problems. And we are not addressing our governments with anywhere near enough vigor."

House of Commons member Brown got a thunderous

ovation. What he said summarized what 90 per cent of the delegates attending the cross-section of peoples from the NATO countries deeply felt.

For, while celebrating its 10th anniversary, the inescapable conclusion of these delegates was that never had NATO strength dragged so low; never had the strength of the Soviet been so great. As the Atlantic Congress met, the following discouraging events were happening.

1. De Gaulle served notice that American-NATO nuclear forces must clear out of France unless France gets control of atomic weapons.

2. Chancellor Adenauer had just struck a blow at German democracy by decreeing on his own that he would continue to run Germany.

3. Russian stubbornness at Geneva, as every delegate knew, was based on confidence born of the Soviet missile build-up, plus knowledge of NATO weakness.

Finally came reports from the USA that beginning next week Congressman Holtfield of California would hold a sensational investigation of radioactive fallout showing that atomic war would literally end most human life in Russia and the United States.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Never Give Up

Never be sad or desponding
If thou hast faith to believe;
Grace, for the duties before thee,
Never be sad or desponding.

Ask of thy God and receive.
What tho' thy life may be drear;
Look on the side that is brightest,
Pray, and thy path will be clear.

Never be sad or desponding,
There is a morrow for thee;
Soon thou shalt dwell in its brightness,
There with the Lord thou shalt be.

Never be sad or desponding,
Lean on the arm of thy Lord;
Dwell in the depths of His mercy,
Thou shalt receive thy reward.

By HORACE B. POWELL

Fanny Crosby, the blind singer whose hymn verses seem sweeter because they were written in darkness, had a happy surprise one night, toward the end of her life.

She visited a church where, during the service of praise and worship, the minister asked the congregation to sing her own hymn, "Never Give Up!" Perhaps it was the unexpectedness of it all, or it may have been the enthusiasm of the singers. At any rate, Fanny Crosby never forgot how thrilling the singing of her verses seemed that night.

Several times, afterward, she mentioned the incident and once, speaking of the hymn itself, she said:

"There is a great and wonderful truth embodied in its words. The whole victory of life is in them — 'Trust in the Lord and take heart'. That means the exercise of courage, the consciousness of being linked to One mightier than ourselves, and it helps one to keep smiling, to keep sunshiny, and to have not only a song on the lips, but one in the heart."

Nixon Mission

Lincoln, Neb.

Afterthoughts on Doris Fleenon's Nixon article in yesterday's Lincoln Star:

It would be long till in July, across the seas his plane will fly To lands the Communies occupy Where Dick will make another try For more headlines two inches high. Right headlines now can get him by Is more or less uncertain.

In Russia he expects him to Accomplish his mission to fail In Venezuela and Peru. From whence he once departed, He'll send his ratings down the hill Plus all the stones the natives threw. And led his transportation crew Right back to where he started. His South American good will Which he attempted to instill (And failed his mission to fail) Is some-thing to remember. If now he takes another spill He'll send his ratings down the hill Beyond the point, so nearly nil. It reached just last November. He's brother Mitt will go along To keep our boys from going wrong If in that communistic throng He oversteps his mission By trying to sell our way of life And terminate the cold war strife By ban of missile, gun and knife. To further his ambition.

Strauss Post

Edmonton, Alberta

I read the Edmonton (Canada) Journal's editorial by their Washington correspondent, T. R. Walker, about the Strauss mess. This editorial stated that Strauss would be confirmed by a narrow margin for the single, stupid excuse that only one cabinet nominee in 91 years has been rejected. No one can accuse this arrogant man of ever doing one good deed. If Congress turns its back on the American people and allows him to get a high post for the sole purpose of defrauding the public, then democracy is on its way down for the third time.

Everywhere in the U.S. and Canada today we are suffering from fall-out, contrary to false reports by Strauss on its deadly harm. The one man responsible for the Strauss nomination and the long list of past and present holders of office for the purpose of selling the American people short is the people's choice and Wall Street's pride, our country club Commander-in-Chief, Curtis will support Strauss.

Highway Deaths

Lincoln, Neb.

Press dispatches last Wednesday carried an account of three traffic accidents in which six lives were lost, bringing traffic fatalities to 15 more than last year at the same time. This calls to mind an editorial in The Lincoln Star of June 5 entitled "Eleven Ways To Have A Wreck" in which took part in 11 murders. Do you know your rights? How many of his 11 victims were asked this or given a chance?

His parents didn't know or care if he was alive before. Aren't they being a little overly solicitous now? Why hang on to him? What good is he to anyone or himself? Why do we taxpayers have to keep and feed him?

D. J.

Bellevue, Neb.

Once again the federal courts invade Nebraska's state rights and grant another stay of execution to Starkweather. This in turn says to every would-be murderer: "Be sure to kill at least a dozen people. It is cheaper that way, and besides, we, the Supreme Court, won't allow the nasty ol' state prisons to execute you."

Why bother to bring such a killer to court? He admits to all the killings, expects the electric chair, and has the fun of making fools of everyone, including his own parents. Who pays the court costs and all the lawyers? Perhaps we should cease paying taxes, if our tax funds are to be used in such fancies. Fair trial? Did he give any of his victims a chance to live? How the sob-sisters must be rejoicing over the success of their stupid pleas for mercy. I only hope they never have to face such a killer.

I am sure I express the opinion of many of The Star readers when I say that Anita Clark, W. T. Davis, and Cecil Matthews are at the top of the best and worthwhile contributors to The Star. We will be looking for more articles from them.

ARTHUR BURKHOLDER

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed. Reed

Publicity

Lincoln, Neb.

What is wrong with the laws and newspapers today? It seems as if to get headlines in the newspapers for over a year, it is necessary just to go out and kill. The name of "Starkweather" is getting pretty sickening splashed all over the front pages. Anyone who does any good for our city may or may not get anything published about it, and if it is, it's so little and hidden that it takes all day to find it.

It must be very encouraging for someone with the mental capacity of Starkweather to go out and do as he did so he will become noticed. He was an unknown before. Now everyone knows his name.

Isn't one killing enough to convict him? He admits he

"Look, dear—he can walk!"

this writer concurs 100 per cent.

The editorial closed with a table compiled by an insurance company which revealed the fact that excessive speed on the highways was the No. 1 killer, with a 43% record of all highway fatalities. This proves the contention held by many that Americans are sacrificing too many lives on the altar of the god of speed.

No driver excepting physicians, ambulances, firemen or police need to travel 60 or 65 miles per hour. Some people contend that some motorists are safer drivers at 65 m.p.h. than others at 40 m.p.h., which due to difference in judgment and speed of reflexes is no doubt true, but this is not a solution of the problem, for the authorities cannot limit some drivers to 40 m.p.h. while permitting others to go the limit.

Most people don't realize that in going 65 miles per hour, they are piloting a potential death-dealing mass of steel and humanity at the rate of 95½ feet per second.

A murder or manslaughter in a community produces intense horror and condemnation, and rightly so, but the incredible complacency of the citizens in connection with this highway slaughter is shocking, and something will have to be done to stop it or lessen it substantially.

W. F. S.

Nosegay For The Unicameral

Nebraska reserves the right to look down its nose now and then at its unicameral legislature and even to yearn now and then for a return to the fleshpots of the old partisan two-house assembly. It has the right because the unicameral is its own child, and an exception at that.

A great many of the present day's younger voters never knew the decadence of the old two-house legislature and they give it more stature than it deserves. Its plan reads as well in a text book as any other.

And then there are those who plain like the trading around in smoke filled rooms by a partisan assembly and believe the only thing wrong with politics is people, ordinary people.

But there is no scorn for the Nebraska unicameral in other states. Iowa frequently looks wistfully at Nebraska. Missouri is another admirer.

The St. Louis Post Dispatch pondered the product of its two house legislature and said:

"Without attempting to excuse the fail-

Redistributing Property

There has seldom been a true revolution which has not required land reform. Such property has the habit of drifting away from the rank and file and collecting in ever-increasing amount in the hands of a few. A revolutionary government considers it essential to divest the few and redistribute the acres among the many.

Under Fidel Castro Cuba is initiating its own version of agrarian reform. Its formula has stirred the United States into a quizzical examination of the conditions. Castro proposes to take the land for redistribution by compensating the present owners on the basis of the property's tax assessment value, and he means to pay the charge with Cuban 4 per cent bonds, good only in pesos, and limited in that they must be re-invested in Cuba. This will bear most heavily on Cuban land owners because they are in the majority, but it also raises a question of justice for American interests active in investment and business in Cuba.

Tax assessment value does not represent productive value, and is therefore a questionable basis upon which to evaluate compensation. And payment in Cuban bonds requiring re-investment has little meaning for those whose loss of operating property means loss of the economic significance of re-investment. Such an arrangement borders closely on confiscation.

It is understandable that the United States government is showing concern for property rights. But at the same time it points up to an example of split thinking. The administration is prepared to go to bat for American property rights in Cuba, but its own agricultural policy is wistful for ways and means of divesting several million more small farm owner-operators here. It would like to see its farm land collect in the hands of fewer people. This is agrarian reform in reverse. It fails to see that the problem in Cuba is only the advanced stage in the direction we are trying to go.

It has called, first, for the police to bring any prisoner before a judge for arraignment "without unnecessary delay." At arraignment the prisoner is informed of his right to counsel; probable cause of his arrest must be shown, and the arrest becomes public knowledge.

To enforce that requirement for prompt arraignment, the Supreme Court sixteen years ago laid down the rule that any confession obtained by the police during improper detention of a prisoner could not be used in evidence against him.

The well-established and essential safeguard is now the subject of attack in Congress. The House is scheduled to vote this week on a bill providing that no confession by a Federal prisoner shall be excluded solely because of delay in his arraignment.

But the bill is not a forthright measure to allow more time for police questioning. It is a back-door approach which leaves the requirement for prompt arraignment on the books but kills entirely the only workable enforcement method. It would allow the police to keep a man in secret detention for days without fear of effective sanctions.

Surely this is not a time for the Federal Government to retreat from a civilized system of criminal justice. The members of the House should remember the words of Justice Felix Frankfurter in his 1943 opinion establishing the rule now under attack: "The history of liberty has largely been the history of the observance of procedural safeguards."

Editorial Of The Day

Without Unnecessary Delay

From The New York Times

Prolonged and secret detention by the police, with no opportunity for the prisoner to consult with family or counsel, is a hallmark of the totalitarian state. The practice remains, for example, one of the dark features of the Soviet system of justice.

For many years Federal practice in this country has been a model for the prevention of such excessive prisoner detention.

Senate Unit Puts Off Vote On How Much To Cut Ike's Foreign Aid Bill

... House Committee May Be Topped

Washington (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee put off a showdown vote until Monday on how much military aid funds it will cut from President Eisenhower's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid bill.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said there was strong sentiment in the committee in favor of even deeper slashes than those made by the House Foreign Affairs Committee in military aid and defense supports.

But Fulbright said he personally felt it might be dangerous to go below the figures in the bill on which the House starts debate next week.

The House committee cut Eisenhower's recommendations for military aid—jet planes, tanks, bombers and other military hardware—from $1,600,000,000 to 1,440,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

And it cut from $835,000,000 to $750,000,000 the President's recommendation for defense support—or economic aid to defense pact allies to enable them to maintain larger forces than their own economies will allow.

The Senate committee—revising an action taken earlier in the week—adopted an amendment designed to put new pressure on Latin America to set up an international police force under the Organization of American States (OAS).

It earmarked $31,500,000 of the $96,500,000 the President asked for military assistance to Latin America for use to help finance units of nations joining such an international force, with the proviso that if such a force is not set up, the money will revert to Latin American Economic assistance.

This would leave only $65,000,000 for direct military aid to individual nations with specification that it could be used only for hemispheric defense and not for internal security.

High Officers Honored By Scottish Rite

Joseph C. Tye of Kearney, newly-elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of Nebraska, AF&AM, was honored along with his line officers Friday night by Scottish Rite officers of the Lincoln Consistory.

Line officers honored at a dinner meeting:

John F. Fletcher, deputy grand master of Omaha; Herbert A. Remm, grand senior warden of Lincoln; Ernest O. Van Way, grand junior warden of Omaha; Ralph M. Carhart, grand deacon of Wayne.

Harry A. Spencer, grand junior deacon of Lincoln; William F. Reed, grand chaplain of Omaha; Dr. W. A. Brandburg, grand orator of Wayne; Harold H. Thom, grand historian of Omaha; Raymond C. Cook, grand custodian of Omaha; A. B. Saum, grand marshal of Kearney; and Charles H. Nines, grand tiler of Bayard.

Other distinguished guests were:

Joseph W. Seacrest, 33rd degree sovereign grand inspector general in Nebraska; plus the following past grand masters of the Grand Lodge of Nebraska: Lewis E. Smith, 33rd degree, Lincoln; Edward F. Carter, 33rd degree, Lincoln; George A. Kurk, 33rd degree, Lincoln; Elmer Magee, 33rd degree, Lincoln; Charles F. Adams, 32nd degree, KCHS, Aurora; Merle M. Hale, 22nd degree, KCHS, Lincoln; and John E. Beaver, 32nd degree, Beemer.

Ike Promotes 3 SAC Generals

Washington (UPI) — President Eisenhower Friday nominated 3 strategic Air Command Major Generals for temporary promotion to the rank of Lieutenant General while serving in their present commands.

Those nominated and their assignments are:

W. C. Sweeney Jr., 8th Air Force, A. J. Olds Jr., 15th Air Force and J. P. McConnell, 2nd Air Force.

(Lincoln Air Force Base is a component of the 2nd Air Force.)

Abbe Sues

New York — Singer Abbe Lane sued the National Broadcasting Co. for $600,000 in damages.

The singer claimed injuries including a "derangement of the left knee" upon falling on prop-steps on her husband's television program last March 1.

Legislators 'Clean House'

By Betty Person

In a change of heart Friday, Nebraska lawmakers decided to have more than a token session and proceeded to advance bills off general file (first floor consideration) except the budget bills.

This leaves only the budget bills, claims recommendations and proposed legislative studies yet to receive initial debate on the floor before adjournment.

Sen. Terry Carpenter advised the Legislature that he will move next Tuesday that the budget bills, containing the appropriation recommendations of the Budget Committee, be accepted without change.

Out By June 30

The Scottsbluff senator said if the Legislature would agree to this, there would be no reason why it could end the session by June 30, otherwise it will be delayed if senators start trying to amend the budget bill on the floor.

Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City questioned whether it would be good judgment to make such a move.

He charged it would be unfair to the taxpayers because the budget measures have been drawn in "great secrecy," and that the other members of the Legislature "don't know a thing about it."

Included among the 7 bills advanced off general file before weekend adjournment, was LB126, introduced by Sens. John Cooper of Humboldt, A. A. Fenske of Sunol and William Moulton of Omaha, which provides for 4-year terms for legislators.

The bill provides for staggered terms with one-half of the lawmakers being elected every two years.

Vote Required

LB126 would require a constitutional amendment which would be voted upon at the 1960 general election.

It had originally provided also that members be allowed to fix their own salaries and expense allowances, but these features were knocked out of the bill before it was advanced on a voice vote.

The other bills advanced were:

LB462 (Judiciary Committee): providing for a flat fee of $25 for filing cases in district courts.

LB359 (Judiciary Committee): allowing administration of living trusts without county court supervision by corporate trustees even if only a co-trustee.

LB335 (Adams): increasing payments to reserve teachers from $30 to $45 a month. Reserve teachers are those who retired from the Nebraska school system before becoming eligible for the school retirement system.

LB730 (Marvel at governor's request): correcting an earlier bill allowing donation of remains of deceased persons, to provide that autopsy must be conducted in reasonable time rather than 4 hours.

LB731 (Munnely at governor's request): correcting LB710 passed earlier to allow payment for costs incurred in moving personal property from condemned structures.

LB732 (Munnely at governor's request): authorizing state reimbursement of counties with federal funds for county aid to disabled and handicapped children.

Claims Against Harrington Companies Nearly $600,000

Nearly $600,000 in claims have been filed against the dissolved Harrington Companies real estate partnership, according to Lancaster District Court records.

The deadline for filing claims against the firm was this week.

Claims totaled $578,654.32, according to figures compiled by The Star.

Estimate Lower

Atty. Duane W. Ackle, receiver for the firm, had filed an inventory May 20 which estimated the firms liabilities at $376,972.80 and assets at $177,189.79.

Ninety-nine claims were filed by firms and individuals.

First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of Lincoln filed the largest claim, totaling $121,023.18.

Former Gov. Victor E. Anderson's claim for $69,200.55 was the largest filed by any individual. He had also filed a $20,710 claim on behalf of the Havelock National Bank of which he is president.

An Omaha woman, Marvene M. Morse, filed a $51,207.31 claim.

The Knights Life Ins. Co. of America, successor to the Union National Life Ins. Co., filed a $63,271.05 claim.

Labor Study Resolution Proposed

Sen. John Munnely of Omaha will propose a two-year study of labor practices in Nebraska and the need for a state labor relations law.

Munnely said he will introduce such a resolution in the Legislature Monday. The committee of the legislative council, which studied the problem over the past two years, recommended a state labor relations act but did not submit one.

One proposed by Gov. Ralph Brooks was killed by the Unicameral.

Munnely said Friday his resolution will state that "it is the considered opinion of many of the members of this session that there was a need for further study" in the labor management field."

Government Study Commission Hears Personnel Woes

By Don Walton

The problem of disparity of personnel practices was placed before the governor's commission to analyze the operations of state government Friday.

Richard M. Bourne, professor of business organization and management at the University of Nebraska, appeared before the group to offer his aid in probing the matter.

Also testifying before the commission was State Purchasing Agent A. Clifford Anderson and his aide, Carl Rosenlof.

They were questioned on a myriad of matters, including the state's complicated voucher purchase system, contract bidding and storage of old records.

Clair Callan of Odell heads the study group.

Other members who met Friday were W. H. "Bill" Davidson and Leonard Bronder, and technical consultant William E. "Pat" Daugherty, all of Lincoln.

Among problems created by the disparity of personnel practices, Bourne said, are the lack of personnel information interchange between departments, no transfer promotion system, no rating system, lack of a training system and the factor of employment competition between state agencies.

Further, Bourne told the commission, there is no one central place to apply for employment with the state government.

The professor suggested that the governor could establish a single personnel officer for code departments by executive order.

Statutory changes would be needed to include constitutional officers, Bourne suggested.

Rosenlof told the commission he knows of "no more simple workable procedure" than the present voucher system for state purchases.

It involves a number of confirmation steps and procedures.

Bronder suggested that a statutory maximum might well be placed on the price of items to be obtained by direct purchase rather than competitive bid.

However, Anderson and Rosenlof pointed out, some items can only be purchased from one vendor, particularly technical and repair purchases.

An estimated 75% of the purchasing office's annual $15 million in purchases is obtained by competitive and quotation bid.

Methods Of Payment To Be Probed

The Legislature passed a resolution Friday to have the Governor's Committee on Reorganization of State Government investigate methods of paying employees.

Th resolution, the 43rd of the sessions, was introduced by Sens. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln and Dwain Williams of Broken Bow. Mrs. Orme said the resolution was introduced after the Government Committee killed a bill backed by State Treasurer Richard Larson to pay state employees twice a month instead of once a month.

Mrs. Orme also said she thought a Legislative Council study of the same question would be in order. A resolution asking for a council study is pending in the Unicameral.

The resolution was approved 29-0.

Brooks Gets Letter By 'Missile Mail'

Gov. Ralph Brooks Friday received a letter which had been carried more than 100 miles by missile.

The letter, along with 3,000 others, was transported by a Regulus I missile from the submarine Barbero to the Mayport Naval Auxiliary Air Station in Florida.

From Mayport, the communication was rushed to Jacksonville for regular postal processing.

The U.S. Post Office said the test showed that carrying mail by missile "appears highly practical."

Brooks' letter carried a special cachet reading "first official missile mail—U.S. Post Office Department."

Mari Sandoz To Attend Her First Family Reunion

Miss Mari Sandoz, one of Nebraska's foremost writers and national authorities on Great Plains history, will attend her first Sandoz family reunion to be held in Alliance June 21.

Under the direction of Mrs. Marian Whitlock, daughter of Pete Sandoz, and her husband, between 100 and 200 descendants and relatives of "Old Jules" Sandoz will attend.

Until this year, Miss Sandoz, whose most recent book about Nebraska is "Hostiles and Friendlies" has been prevented from attending previous reunions because of writing or teaching commitments.

Jr. Stockmen Elect Officers

E. J. Platt of Valentine Friday was elected president of the Nebraska Junior Stock Growers Assn. at its annual convention in Lincoln.

Platt succeeds Jerry Adamson of Cody.

Other new officers are Rex Adamson of Cody, vice-president; and Sonja Eriksen of Mullin, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Eriksen was also chosen as "Junior-of-the-Year" in the state association.

The group is meeting in conjunction with the annual convention of the Nebraska Stock Growers Assn. here.

Boys, Girls Staters Start Sessions Today

Some 600 Nebraska high school juniors will begin week-long sessions in self-government Saturday noon at Cornhusker Boys and Girls State.

The boys will use the Activities Building on the University of Nebraska agricultural campus while the girls will be housed at Selleck Quadrangle on the campus downtown.

Each group will elect its own state, county and city officials. The program includes an address by Gov. Ralph Brooks at inauguration ceremonies of both groups. Boys State inauguration will be Monday while the Girls Staters' will be Tuesday.

The American Legion and Legion Auxiliary sponsor the programs.

Mrs. Nebraska Meets Identical Dress Situation With Aplomb

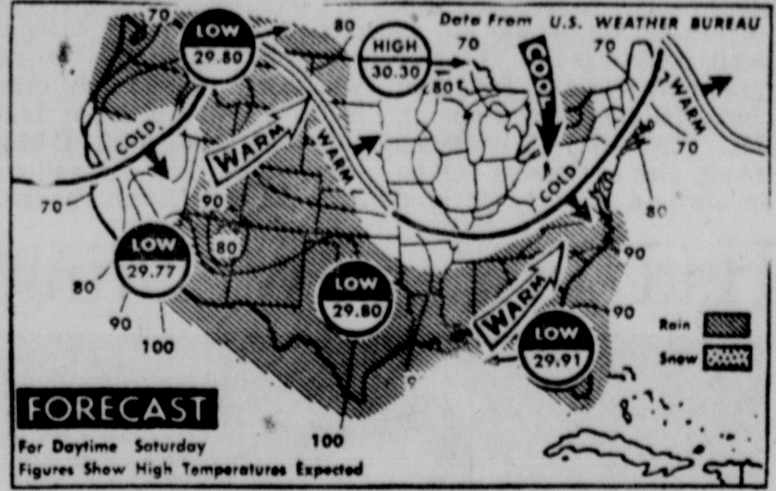

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. — Mrs. Maine and Mrs. Nebraska showed up in identical dresses at the first get-together of Mrs. America contestants Friday.

However, Mrs. Pauline Carrier of West Brook, Maine, and Mrs. Betty Roush of Grand Island, Neb., met the situation with aplomb—after discovering they paid the same price for their two-piece cotton frocks.

One contestant, Mrs. Jeanne Carter, representing West Virginia, arrived with her husband, Harlan. He had to stay home in Elm Grove because of his father's critical illness. All the other women were accompanied by their spouses.

The 51 contestants, one from each state and the District of Columbia, will participate in 3 days of home making and good grooming contests before the final winner receives the Mrs. America crown June 20.

The tallest of the group is Mrs. Illinois, 5 foot 9 inch Vivian Grimm.

Summertime Temps Expected
Rain is expected to be widespread Saturday all through the South and up through the Rockies and the Northwest. Warmer temperatures are in store for the central and northern Plains and most of the south Atlantic states; cooler for the upper and middle Atlantic Coast states, across the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys, lower Lakes area, northern California and western Nevada. Suzanne Swingle, Bride

MRS. VERNON LEWIS

Lighted cathedral candles and fan arrangements of white gladioli and Snow Queen daisies appointed the chancel of the Westminster Presbyterian Church where the wedding of Miss Suzanne Swingle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Swingle, and Veldon Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Veldon Glen Lewis of Fremont, took place on Friday afternoon, June 12. Blue satin bows, caught with clusters of daisies, marked the processional aisle. Dr. Frederick Roblee solemnized the 4:30 o'clock ceremony.

Mrs. Wayne F. Morrison of Denver, as her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Sue Lewis of Alexandria, Va., and Miss Maureen Lindsay of Grand Island, appeared in alike sheath frocks of blue silk and cotton. Designed in the princess mode the costumes had rounded necklines and brief sleeves. Tailored back bows accented the back panel of chiffon which extended to the hems of the skirts. Their cascade bouquets were of blue and white carnations.

Charles Bunz of Omaha served as best man, and the guests were seated by Wayne Morrison of Denver; Richard McMullin of Stella; Charles Swingle, Jr., and Cecil L. Walker.

The gown chosen by the bride for her wedding was of white taffeta. The sculptured bodice, designed with a portrait neckline and brief sleeves, and the voluminous skirt with its chapel train was patterned with elaborate medallions of re-embroidered Alencon lace encrusted with pearls and sequins. Her tiered veil of illusion was held to the head with a plateau hat edged with the re-embroidered lace, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white orchids, encircled with white sweetheart roses and ivy strands. She carried an heirloom handkerchief which had been carried by generations of brides in her mother's family.

Following a honeymoon trip to San Francisco, Mr. Lewis and his bride will reside in Omaha.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were graduated this month from the University of Nebraska where the bride is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and Mr. Lewis of Sigma Nu fraternity.

TOWN TALK

—Must hurry along with our news this ayem, but before we begin on the guests, the travelers, and the parties for brides-elect, we want to tell you that Gerald Desmond III, arrived on Wednesday, June 10 at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The young man's mother is the former Sally Skutt of Omaha, Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska, and the 1956 Queen of Ak-Sar-Ben. The baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Skutt of Omaha who, we hear, will come to Lincoln on Sunday to extend greetings to their grandson. We also hear that Jerry III's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Skutt, also of Omaha, will be in town on Sunday. No need to tell you, but we will, that the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald G. Desmond.

—Thursday evening brought Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Van de Water to Lincoln from San Francisco. Today Mr. and Mrs. Van de Water, and Mrs. Van de Water's mother, Mrs. O. V. Calhoun, will go to Rochester, Minn., for a few days visit with Mrs. Calhoun's son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Walt Weaver. The travelers then will go to Piney Ridge, Minn., for a day and return to Lincoln where Mr. and Mrs. Van de Water will remain only over night. They will leave Lincoln for New York City from where they will sail on June 22, for Bremerhaven.

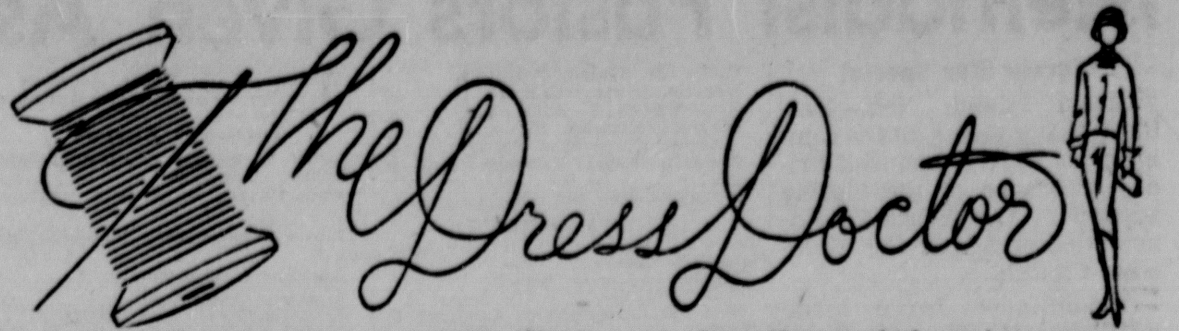

Mr. Van de Water, a student in the college of medicine at Stanford University, Palo Alto, will spend the first quarter of next year's study at the University of Freiberg.

—Understand that Mrs. John Folsom and her son, John, arrived from Muskegon, Mich., a few days ago to spend a week or two as the guests of Mrs. Folsom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludwick.

—Someone told us that Mrs. Ron Green (Gretchen Teal) is keeping herself as busy as possible while her husband is in Korea. This summer Mrs. Green will be a counselor at Camp Lake Hubert, Minn. As a matter of fact Mrs. Green and Miss Ann Desmond left Thursday for Lake Vermillion where they will spend a few days at the Teal summer home before Mrs. Green leaves for Camp Hubert.

Miss Desmond, however, will remain at Verillion as the guest of Mrs. Fritz Teal who, as of today, will also have other house guests—her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Teal of Omaha.

We hear that Mrs. Teal and Miss Desmond will return to Lincoln in another two weeks, and that Dr. and Mrs. Teal will return to Vermillion in August for a late summer holiday.

by EDITH HEAD (with Jane Kesner Ardmore)

(Editor's note: This is the fourth in a series of installments condensed from Hollywood dress designer Edith Head's best-selling book, "The Dress Doctor.")

Now when an actress says, "Come on over to my house between five and eight tonight, some friends are dropping by..." you automatically assume it's a tea party or a cocktail party, depending on her state of health.

Ginger Rogers lives right above me, off Coldwater Canyon; she could throw rocks into my back yard; but this was an invitation, and I dressed.

"When in doubt, I always say, 'a little black dress.' I wore it: a black cocktail dress, white hat; white gloves.

And Ginger screamed when she opened the door.

She'd forgotten to say this was an ice cream party!

Ginger is like her party—apple-pie American. When she took the Gertrude Lawrence role in Lady in the Dark, she did not imitate Gertrude Lawrence. She was strictly her own American self, Ginger Rogers, but this time in terms of a sophisticated woman in high-fashion clothes.

For the number "Jenny Made Her Mind Up," where she imagined herself like something in a circus, behind bars of a cage, we made a mink skirt, split up the front and solidly lined in ruby glitter. Her famous legs were encased in long sheer tights. Under a mink jacket was a blaze of the same ruby glitter.

It was one of the most lavish dresses ever made in Hollywood: the mink alone cost fifteen thousand dollars; and I still show it at fashion shows as a sample of the luxury that existed before the era of budgets and economy.

Only certain shades of mink photograph correctly, and at one point the floor of my entire suite was covered with hundreds of mink-skins. Director Mitch Leisen, Ginger and I studied the minks and picked out the most photogenic, Ginger sitting among them, stroking them like a child.

But, mink dress or gingham, my clothes never changed. Ginger's personality, she changed them. She even made me eat the fancy-colored soda I concocted at her house that day.

Talk about taking your own medicine!

PARK MANOR

This appears to have been a busy week for Mrs. Dale Hayes—Friday morning she was hostess at a "get acquainted" coffee honoring Mrs. Jack Childers. The guest list included 14 wives of faculty members at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. and Mrs. Childers will be spending the summer in Lincoln as Dr. Childers is teaching during the summer session at Nebraska in his capacity as visiting professor from Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. King and Karl Kost, all of Lincoln.

The young lady's paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Victoria Caserio of Leeds, S.D., and Mrs. John Prem of St. Cloud, Minn., is the maternal great-grandmother.

State Board

The regular board meeting of the Nebraska Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will be held in Lincoln Saturday with state officers, chairmen and district directors attending.

Mrs. Alma L. Truax, Scottsbluff, newly-elected president, will preside at the all-day meeting at the Hotel Cornhusker which will open at 9 o'clock in the morning and conclude with a dinner Saturday evening.

Had Friday Wedding

MRS. HOWARD DEE FAGER

Arrangements of summer flowers appointed the altar and chancel of Christ Church, Episcopal, in Beatrice for the wedding of Miss Jeanne Lorraine Dobbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rhen J. Dobbs, and Howard Dee Fager, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fager of Lincoln, which took place on Friday evening, June 12.

Sheaths of pink crytalette, fashioned with net overskirts, were chosen for the alike costumes of the attendants including Miss Janice Dobbs of Lincoln, her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Kathleen Kohout of Friend; Miss Dianne Fager of Lincoln; Miss Eleanor Bessack and Miss Virginia Waddell.

Keith Fager of Klamath Falls, Ore., served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Richard Taylor of Englewood, Colo.; Jack Fager, Ted Ritchey and Robert Benton, all of Lincoln.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white satin designed with a long-sleeved fitted bodice, fashioned with a sabrina neckline, and a wide, floor-length skirt. A halo of pearls held in place her veil of illusion, and she carried white orchids on a white prayer book. Her only ornament was a pendant of two interwoven hearts, centered with a pearl.

Following the reception Mr. Fager and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Colorado, and upon their return they will reside at 1030 No. 48th St.

The bride was graduated this month from Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Phi Mu sorority. Mr. Fager will be a junior at Nebraska Wesleyan this year.

CONFIDENTIALLY TO VIRGINIA: Apparently, your conscience doesn't prevent you from doing anything—just from enjoying it. Better behave yourself.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Naturally, we know the great showman's name was Flo—but just as he glorified the American girl, so has A. Q. (last name Schimmel, his theatre—the Hotel Cornhusker) glorified the American hamburger.

The SCHIMMELburger is as different from the ordinary hamburger as caviar from sardines. A generous portion of choice ground round, lean and chockful of flavor, is shaped around cheddar cheese which melts deliciously in the broiling.

Skewered on the toasted bun are morsels of onion, pickle and tomato; celery, olive and radish adorn it. The Cornhusker's famous crisp curly shoestrings make this a man-size (and woman-favored) meal.

Try a SCHIMMELburger soon. Or a sizzling steak. It's gourmet fare at its finest.

Key Demos To Discuss Primary?

... Kennedy Aide Here

The initial step toward placing the name of Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts on Nebraska's presidential primary ballot next spring may be taken in Lincoln Saturday.

A number of key Democratic leaders in the state will confer with Kennedy's administrative assistant, Ted Sorensen, in a morning conference at a downtown hotel. The Star learned Friday. Sorensen is a former Lincolnite.

Discussion pointing to the senator's entrance into Nebraska's presidential scuffle is more than a likelihood. Kennedy has cultivated the state's political soil for the past 3 years.

He appeared in both Lincoln and Omaha in May of 1957, then made stops in both metropolitan areas again last September.

He'll be in Lincoln again next Oct. 13. Kennedy would capture 6 of Nebraska's 12 first-ballot votes at the 1960 Democratic national convention if it were held today, according to results of a Chicago Daily News poll.

Road To Victory

Political observers believe a strong showing by Kennedy in Nebraska next spring could pave the way for capture of the presidential nomination. He has shown considerable strength in the East and South and national polls indicate he is, at the moment, the leading Democratic contender.

Victory in a Midwestern primary could well shift the bandwagon into high gear, especially if it were gained over a Midwesterner such as Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who is understood to be considering entering the Nebraska race.

Service Academy Tests Set July 13

Phil Weaver, First District Congressman, announced that Civil Service examinations for the 3 Service Academies, Army, Navy, and Air Force, are scheduled for Monday, July 13, in a number of Nebraska cities.

To qualify for the examinations applicants must be male citizens with legal residence in the First Congressional District of Nebraska, be physically fit, never have been married, and be between the ages of 17 and 22.

Letters of application should contain the youth's full name and address, parents' names, his birth date, scholastic standing, outline of extra-curricular activities, his height and weight.

Letters should be addressed to Congressman Phil Weaver, 351 House Office Building, Washington, D.C., and must be received there no later than Wednesday, June 24.

The quality of simplicity which so frequently marks the life of dignified men, is the dominating factor in every service we conduct.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

The stripe patterns on zebras are never alike.

A new Mississippi River-Gulf Canal at the port of New Orleans will cut approximately 40 miles off the present route.

Benjamin Franklin used playing cards as insulation in the electrical friction machine which he built in 1751.

Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming, established in 1872, is the nation's largest and oldest national park.

The United States has a 99-year lease on naval and air bases in Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, Antigua, St. Lucia, Trinidad and British Guiana.

Shelby Leads Way As Jays Qualify Dozen

Boston's Lawlor Sets Hammer Throw Mark At 207-5

By Don Bryant

Memorial Stadium—With workhorse Ernie Shelby setting the pace, the University of Kansas Jayhawks made a strong bid for their first National Collegiate Athletic Association championship Friday evening, qualifying 12 for today's finals.

Some 5,000 cinder fans saw Shelby, only recently recovered from a leg injury, take the lead in the broad jump and qualify in the hop-step and jump and the low hurdles.

Kansas doubled the qualifiers on runner-up San Jose State which advanced 6 to the finals, slated to get underway at 4:30 p.m. this afternoon at Memorial Stadium.

Only one record toppled Friday during preliminary and semi-final activity and that was in the first event of the day, the 16-pound hammer throw.

Former Dublin, Ireland policeman John Lawlor, now a geology student at Boston University, dashed 3 marks with a mighty heave of 207-5. He erased the meet record, the national collegiate mark and the Nebraska stadium mark.

Lawlor, by the way, has a pair of 208-8½ tosses still pending before the record approvers.

Summaries On Page 14

The temperature was 90 and the sun was bright.

Nebraska, with Joe Mullins copping both his 880 heats, qualified two for the finals. Al Wellman, a newcomer in the hammer throw department, made the finals by finishing 7th in the slim 7 man field.

The Huskers' other hope for points is Ken Pollard who will be working in the pole vault session today.

Mullins won his preliminary heat with ease in 1:52.6 and nipped a tightly-bunched 5-man field in the semifinals with a 1:53.3 effort.

Best 880 job, however, was turned in by Illinois ace, George Kerr, who took the second semi heat in 1:51.4.

Shelby leaped 25-5 in the broad jump, qualified 5th in the hop-step and jump and then ran 4th in the low hurdle semis.

Casper In Open Lead

139 Tops Hogan, Palmer, Player By One Stroke

Mamaroneck, N.Y. (AP)—Bill Casper, Jr., a well-fed member of golf's touring brigade, charged in with a two-under-par 68 Friday and seized a one-stroke lead at the halfway point of the U.S. Open golf championship. He had a 36-hole score of 139.

Tied at 140, even par for two rounds over the heavily trapped Winged Foot course, were a formidable trio consisting of Ben Hogan, seeking a record 5th title; Arnold Palmer, 1957 Masters winner, and South Africa's young Gary Player.

The paunchy Casper, a consistent money winner from Apple Valley, Calif., and one of the deadliest putters in the game, missed sinkable putts on the 17th and 18th in a bid for a halfway record in this prestige event.

At the 17th, a 10-foot putt slipped inches past the cup sidehiller curled away to the right, missing by a few blades of green grass. Had he made good on either putt, Casper would have tied the 36-hole Open record of 138, shared by Sam Snead, Hogan, Dick Mayer and amateur Billy Joe Patton.

Hogan, plugging the holes in his wavering game with spectacular recoveries, remained in the thick of the fight by adding a 71 to his first round 69. Player shot a 69 with a double bogey 6 at the 17th. Palmer, driving on a clothes-line and blasting from traps with deadly accuracy, added a 69 to his earlier 71.

The 59th Open turned into another traffic jam with a dozen players packaged within 4 shots of each other at the head of the pack.

Tied at 141 were Doug Ford, former Masters champion, who also shot 69, and Mike Souchak, the former Duke University football

OSU COPS 10-2 WIN IN SERIES

Omaha (AP)—The Oklahoma State Cowboys opened the College World Series Friday night with a 10-2 victory over Western Michigan.

The Big 8 school, rated a top bidder for the NCAA title in the double elimination tourney here, jumped on ace Bronco righthander Bill Topp for 3 hits and 3 runs in the 3rd inning.

The Broncos got two back in the 5th on pinch hitter Roger Flath's triple.

But in the 6th catcher Ray Bond hit an inside the park home run during a rally that put Oklahoma State on top 6-2. The Cowboys shelled two pitchers from the mound in a 4-run 7th.

Today Connecticut and Penn State play at 2 p.m. (CST) with the winner playing Oklahoma State at 7 p.m. Sunday.

In the other games Clemson and Arizona are matched at 6 p.m. and Colorado State and Fresno at 8 p.m.

Green Bay Gets 8-2 Triumph Over Chiefs

Green Bay's rapid-moving Bluejays shifted back into high gear at Sherman Field again Friday night while running roughshod over the slump-ridden Lincoln Chiefs 8-2.

The invaders' villains were 3 in number, pitcher Bill Hunter and sluggers Tim Harkness and Gus Sansimino. Hunter, a sizeable left-hander, silenced Lincoln bats with a stingy ration of 6 safeties over the route. Harkness—who went 3-for-4 at the plate—and Sansimino both parked two-run homers over the left field barrier to give the hurler all the margin he needed.

Lincoln righthander Fritz Ackley, absorbing his 4th licking of the season, dueling on even terms with Hunter for 4 frames.

His fortunes ended when he walked the Jays' Bob Parker, then dealt a gopher ball to Harkness in the 5th. The Chiefs cut the 2-0 deficit in half in the bottom half of the same frame when Deacon Jones singled, took second on a Hunter wild pitch and rode home on catcher Al Schrader's double.

The roof then caved in for Ackley in the 7th when Harkness doubled home Parker from first, Camilli singled in Harkness and Sansimino unloaded his two-run blast.

Ackley excited after dealing George Scott a triple and Parker a single with none down in the 9th. Reliever Phil

Groth, a lefthander, hit Sansimino with an errant toss and issued Harkness a single before retiring the side.

An error, a wild pitch and Jim Lynn's second single of the contest gave Lincoln its second run during the final half-inning.

Lincoln gets its last crack at the insurgent Bluejays during a series-closing game scheduled for 8 p.m. tonight. Ron Teunis, 4-2 for the Chiefs, and Don Kenway, 5-4 for the visitors, have been elected for mound chores.

KU Ace Alley May Have To Throw Today

...Javelin Lead Is Narrow

By Al Beebe

Bill Alley of Kansas, the nation's leading sore-armed javelin flinger, may have to work today, after all.

Alley, who has bettered 270 feet with the javelin and is a strong favorite in the NCAA meet here, is scheduled to have an operation on his right elbow next Tuesday to remove bone chips.

Before Friday's preliminary competition, Alley said that he would not throw Saturday.

Asked if that meant whether he was leading or not, Alley said: "I don't expect to be behind."

Going into today's final 3 throws, Alley is leading, but only by a few feet. He trailed through most of the preliminary competition, finally taking the lead on his 3rd throw. Both throws 3 and 4 for alley were some 5-8 feet better than his other competitors, but far below his previous bests.

Alley reported his elbow was "sore" after throwing Friday. He didn't say whether he would change his mind about throwing today or not, but at least one of his competitors was of the opinion he would be in action.

"He'll throw when he sees what we do tomorrow," said New Mexico's Buster Quist, runner-up last year. Quist is one of several contenders who could surpass Alley's leading mark if the Kansas passes up today's opportunity.

Hurdle Casualty

Biggest "casualty" list of the day was in the 400 meter hurdle preliminaries. In the first heat, two of the 6 entries scratched. In the second heat, only 3 runners finished the event. One tumble at a hurdle by Iowa State's Kenneth Sweeney also took out Mike Logan of Occidental, who fell over Sweeney.

The event also precipitated the biggest argument of

Short No-Hitter By McCormick

...Rain Comes After 5 Innings

Philadelphia (AP)—Young Mike McCormick pitched 5 innings of no-hit ball Friday night and paced the San Francisco Giants to a 3-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in a game halted by rain in the Phils' half of the 6th inning.

McCormick, recording his 4th victory against 5 losses, permitted only one man to reach first base in the curtailed contest. He issued a walk to Gene Freese in the 4th.

In the actual play, McCormick gave up two more walks and a single to Richie Ashburn in the Phils' 6th, but the rain came down to preserve his shutout. Jackie Brandt also helped with a spectacular one-handed running catch of a long blow to left center by Harry Anderson in the second inning.

It was McCormick's second consecutive shutout win over the Phils, who have gone scoreless for 14 straight innings.

Dobson, Souders Leading Swingfest

By Paul LeBar

Adna Dobson of the host Lincoln Country Club and his guest, Dr. A. E. Souders of Nebraska City, were the first-round leaders of the 6th annual Swingfest Golf Tournament, Friday, the pair coming in with an 18-hole best-ball handicap score of 59.

Dobson and Souders, who were 3rd from the last off the links, were 13 under the LCC par of 72 as 142 members and guests took advantage of warm temperatures and fast fairways.

The leaders' total crowded Max Griffith of Kansas City and Robert Mowbray of LCC off the top rung. Mowbray and Griffith had a best-ball total of 60, one stroke better than the 61 belonging to defending champions Jack Allgaier of Omaha and J. William Mowbray of LCC.

Dobson and Souders, both owning 18-stroke handicaps, were out in 32 and in with a 27.

Sixty-one of the doubles teams in the tournament shot par or under, indicating that the battle could go down to the wire for first place over the final 18 holes today.

S. A. McDowell of Denver, Colo., and Bob Lau of LCC plus Frank Flagg of Omaha and Pat Miner of LCC were tied for 4th with 62s.

Seven other doubles shot 63s.

Cubs Kayoe Burdette, Hang On For 9-7 Win

Chicago (P)—The Chicago Cubs kayoe starter Lew Burdette with 3-run clusters in the first two innings Friday and then had to hang on to defeat the league-leading Milwaukee Braves 9-7.

A 5-run Milwaukee rally featured by Johnny Logan's 3-run homer in the 8th inning put the Braves within striking distance. But reliever Bill Henry kept the power-happy Braves in check and saved the decision for starter John Buzhardt.

Tigers Jump Into Tie For 3rd; Beat Yanks

New York (P)—The Detroit Tigers jumped into a 3rd place tie, within two games of the American League lead, by whipping New York 3-1 Friday night behind the 6-hit pitching of left-hander Don Mossi, who now has taken 4 in a row from the Yankees.

It was the 7th victory in 8 games and 3rd in a row for the Tigers, lifting them into a deadlock with the Baltimore Orioles, whose game with Chicago was rained out.

The Tigers, who have lost only 4 of 19 in their surge from the cellar, wrapped up this one by getting 5 of their 7 hits in the first 3 innings against right-handed rookie Jim Bronstad, who was making his first major league start.

Mossi, now 5-2 with his 4th success in a row, lost a bid for a second consecutive shut-out over the champs in the second inning.

player, who added a 70 to an opening 71.

The professional Golfers Assn. champion, Dow Finsterwald, and Ernie Vossler, bespectacled pro from Midland, Tex., followed at 142. Then came Gene Littler, Jay Hebert and host professional Claude Harmon, bracketed at 143.

A crowd of 15,664 poured over the Winged Foot course for the second round which began in a raw, cold drizzle, moved through an afternoon of bright sunshine and ended at dusk.

The tournament field was cut to the low 50 and ties for today's rigorous double round climax which will be televised between 2:30 and 4 p.m. CST. (NBC).

It took a score of 150 to survive the cutoff. There were 61 players that figure or better. Main casualties included former champions Dick Mayer (157) and Ed Furgol (161); Hillman Robbins, freshman Memphis pro who skied to an 81 after an opening 70, and the bulk of the U.S. Walker Cup team, Bill Hyndman, Harvie Ward, Jack Nicklaus and the new British amateur champion, Deane Beman.

Charlie Coe, the Walker Cup captain, made it with a close-squeak 150.

Casper is a 28-year-old touring pro, the father of two children. He looks least like an athlete although he has been a steady winner since he started on the circuit in 1954.

He is 5 feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 210 pounds. He is reputed to have one of the most sensitive putting touches in golf and an ideal temperament.

Both attributes came to the front as he toured the rain-dampened layout in 34-34-68, matching the best round of the tournament, Chick Harbert also had a 68 but added it to a first round 78.

Casper sank a 15-foot putt at the second hole, got another birdie at the 5th with a 5-footer and snaked in one from 45 feet on the short 13th. He had only one bogey. On the par 37th, he trapped his tee shot and blasted out too strongly to take a 4.

Par for the 6,873-yard course is 35-35-70. The pros and topflight amateurs still are finding it an elusive target.

Hogan, showing no strain or weariness but some disgust with his game, remarked caustically afterwards: "I played a sorry game, fellows. I missed too many fairways and too many greens."

Actually the 46-year-old Texan, who would become the oldest man ever to take the title should he win it, missed 3 fairways and 8 greens.

Defending champion Tommy Bolt survived the cutoff with a 73 for 148. Sam Snead, who never has won the Open, added a 72 to a previous 73 for 145.

Big Game Hunting Dates Set

The State Game Commission Friday restored a limited antelope season this fall and approved its second largest deer season in the state's history.

The Commission authorized 11,850 deer permits for the Nov. 7-11 season. The previous high was 16,500 in 1957. Last year 10,000 were authorized.

An abbreviated 3-day antelope season from Sept. 12-14 was authorized for 250 permits. One animal, either sex, can be taken in the area in Dawes and Sioux Counties north of U.S. 20 and west of Neb. 19.

Ten deer hunting areas were approved for the 5-day season.

in daily newspaper ads?

ANSWERS: COLOR? BABIES?

ONE OF A SERIES

ANSWER: COLOR! One of the most exciting developments in the newspaper business is the rapidly increasing availability and use of Run-Of-Paper color. In the United States and Canada there are now over 925 daily newspapers with more than 46 million circulation offering ROP color to advertisers. And more and more advertisers are taking advantage of this new dimension of newspaper advertising. Color is catching — and it is catching more and more eyes in the daily newspaper.

Abandoned Property Bill Killed

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee killed a bill that would have allowed the state to take custody of property abandoned for 7 years, including deposits in banks, savings funds and deposit boxes.

LB726 was introduced by Sen. Edw. McHugh of Murdock.

Merit Seen

Committee members in killing the bill by a vote of 4-3 that there was "considerable merit" in the bill but the bill needed additional amendments, and the committee deems it too late in the session to attempt a job.

The bill covered all types of bank deposits, cash checks, travelers checks, deposits to utility companies and building and loan deposits and all other forms of tangible personal property claimed for 7 years.

A provision was made with no time limit when the owners could collect the value of their property if they when they are located. It required also that the state treasurer attempt to locate the owners.

Heavy Opposition

The bill met opposition in the public hearing from half-dozen representatives of public utilities, bank associations, and building and loan assn. groups.

FILM CARRIERS ASK INCREASE

The State Railway Commission has scheduled a hearing for July 1 at Lincoln to consider a rate increase application from Midwest Film Carriers, which seeks an increase in transporting motion pictures, theatre advertising, films, equipment, accessories, magazines, periodicals and newspapers. The firm wishes to establish a minimum charge.

Other Commission Action

Granted to the Burlington Railway authority to establish rates on aluminum cubes or pellets from Abbot to Harvard to Nebraska City.

Set for Wednesday a hearing on application by the Southeast Nebraska Telephone Co., Falls City, seeking a rate increase.

Continued until Aug. 10 a hearing originally set for Monday on an application by Union Pacific to close its Iowa station.

Will hear next Friday a Burlington application to discontinue its passenger agency and also hold hearings on general rates and charges for warehouses.

Granted authority to Central Aircraft, Inc., Okallaha, to engage in interstate air commerce as a scheduled carrier.

Approved the following electric trolley lines:

Conkushur Rural Public Power District, Columbus, for lines in Platte and Nance, Merrick, Wheeler and Union counties; Omaha Public Power District, for lines in Douglas and Washington counties; Consumers Public Power District, Columbus, for lines in Harlan and Nemaha counties; Northwest Public Power District, Hay Springs, for lines in Sheridan, Dawes and counties.

Dedication Planned

Queen Elizabeth will unveil a monument when she visits Eisenhower Dam, in the international section of the St. Lawrence valley June 27, officials say. The monument of black granite is dedicated to the emergence of the Canadian-American peoples in building the multimillion dollar project.

Stock Market Drifts To Loss

New York (AP)—The stock market Friday failed to be much inspired by rallying steels and drifted to a moderate loss on the smallest turnover of the year.

Volume sank to 2,580,000 shares from 3,120,000 Thursday and was the lightest since last Sept. 5 when 2,520,000 shares changed hands.

Steele took their cue from the deadlocked labor negotiations and news that the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers had authorized President Davis to take strike action to win a new agreement.

The steel took a good part of its gains by the close. Aluminum also gave a bright performance.

The Associated Press average of 49 stocks fell 40 cents to $22.77 with the Dow Jones industrial average down 1/8 point to 117.34.

Of 159 issues traded, 51 fell and 451 rose. There were 35 new highs for the year and 54 new lows.

Nine of the 15 active stocks advanced and six declined.

Corporate bonds were mixed in quiet trading.

U. S. government bonds drifted lower in slower transactions.

Bond sales totaled $4,750,000 per value.

Ekerberg Will Go To Europe

Axtell, Neb. (P) — Director H. E. Ekerberg of the Bethphage Mission has been accepted by both the American and European committees to be an exchange visitor in Europe for 3 months this summer, under the Lutheran World Federation program.

He is scheduled to leave for Europe following the Augustana Lutheran annual synod meeting in Hartford, Conn., June 15-21.

The assignment will probably be to some location in Sweden, and possibly a visit to Bethel Bielefeld, Germany, will also be arranged.

4 Are Jailed; 2 Policemen Lose Badges

Omaha (P) — Four persons were jailed and two policemen had been relieved of duty Friday as the dust settled after a vice squad raid on a stag party at Sokol Hall.

A near riot developed in which beer was poured on two policemen and a cruiser car was nearly knocked over. Booked for investigation were Laddie Prucha, 44, Omaha businessman; Jeanne Mitchell, 32, John A. Goettsche, 30, and Russell L. Luedke, 27.

Police Inspector Jean C. Whinnery stripped badges from Patrolmen Jerry Menousek and Alex Naran pending further investigation and Whinnery said he is expecting a report from Patrolman Fred Bruning Jr.

A vice detail group composed of Sgt. Louis Kostka and Patrolman Donald Tague and Foster Burchard said the visited the stag party 10:30 p.m., and found Patrolmen Menousek and Naran working there in uniform and Bruning inside in plain clothes.

The squadmen said they told the group to keep it quiet and clean and then left.

Sgt. Kostka said when they returned to Central Police Station Capt. Carl Heine related he had a phone call from Prucha complaining about the visit. The squad returned and found all but one door locked.

Sgt. Kostka and Burchard went through that and found Miss Mitchell dancing inside.

Congratulations..

TO ALL PARTICIPANTS IN THE N.C.A.A. CHAMPIONSHIPS

... Lincoln and Gold's are proud to be your hosts

... We'd like to take this opportunity to extend a warm welcome to those of you who are participating in the track and field championships, and to you fans who'll cheer them on. It's a pleasure to see healthy, young men taking part in such fine athletic activities here in our city.

'Tremble Remedy' Test Wednesday

A suggested remedy for the so-called "trembling floors" at the governor's mansion will be tested next Wednesday.

Sheet lead and foam rubber padding have been suggested as means of reducing the vibration.

Study has shown that the bond on the building will not expire until sometime in October, Administrative Assistant Robert Conrad said Friday.
